Council Votes To Turn On Street Lights July 1

5 TO 1 BALLOT RESULTS AFTER LENGTHY TALKS

Question Of City's Finances Continues Vital Following Wednesday Discussion

DELEGATIONS AT SESSION

First Of Next Year May See Many Services Eliminated, Officials Believe

Circleville Council in special session Wednesday evening voted legislation to turn the city's street lights on July 1. The vote was five to one, Councilman J. D. Mason contesting the resolution, Councilman Byron Eby being absent, and Councilmen Frank A. Lynch, W. E. Wallace, George Crites, Boyd Horn and Julius Helwigen voting in favor of it.

Action was taken after a two and one half hour debate and consideration of various plans, proposals and concessions.

A delegation of members of the Senior and Junior Chambers of Commerce was present at the confab together with several residents who were interested enough in the issue to attend the meeting.

Lights have been out since last December 29.

The meeting Wednesday evening was the result of recent proposals by civic groups for turning them back on. Frank Lynch, chairman of the finance committee, started the discussion with a financial report. This report, he said, was so indefinite and misleading that he would not release it for publication and stated in the session that he was "not satisfied with this report. It is not as fully itemized as it should be."

Following this nearly all members of council offered their own figures on the city's financial condition but none of them was alike.

Despite the statement by Mr. Lynch, council accepted the financial report with only a few minor questions. Lynch and two other members of the finance group were unable to attend a planned meeting with the auditor last Tuesday to go over the status of the city's bank roll.

Figures Differ

Two sides of the financial situation were discussed by the opposing members, with various reports being brought into the picture. A general opinion of how the city stands was given in one case by President John Goeller and the other by Councilman Don Mason. Goeller contended that the city's revenue for the first five months of 1942 was greater by $5,000 than the same period in 1941. Figures released to substantiate the point showed $19,821, from all sources in the first six months of last year as compared with $23,268 for the first five months of 1942.

Mason contended that with a conservative estimate of a surplus of $9,857 in the city coffers at the end of the present year, under present budget estimates that do not include several items, the city cannot possibly operate for the first three months of 1943 without going deeply into debt or discontinuing fire and police protection in addition to turning the lights out again.

Mason and Solicitor Joe Adkins both believe that the city's tax receipts will be cut by at least

ARMY SETS UP BRITISH OFFICE

Gen. Eisenhower In Charge Of European Operations For Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON, June 25—The formal establishment of a European theatre of operations for United States forces with headquarters in London was announced today by the War department.

Indicating that the United States is moving swiftly toward participation in possible establishment of a second land front in Europe, the War department announced that Major Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, formerly assistant chief of staff in charge of Army operations, has been designated as commanding general of the European theatre.

The disclosure was made in the Army's 229th communique.

GERMAN PLANES BOMB SEVERAL BRITISH AREAS

LONDON, June 25—Nazi raiding planes followed up an early morning attack on the west midlands today by bombing several points in East Anglia.

Five of the Luftwaffe raiders were destroyed.

Two areas of a west midlands town were blasted by high explosives and incendiary bombs.

An official Royal Air Force communique revealed that British bombers during the night blasted the Nazi-held submarine base at St. Nazaire, France.

Bursts of gunfire awakened residents of London, many of whom went into the streets in their night clothes. Some residents rushed to air raid shelters although no alert was sounded.

It was believed that the fire from the London batteries resulted from the appearance of a Nazi reconnaissance plane or possibly was caused by one of the craft which participated in the midlands raid and became lost. No bombs were dropped in the vicinity of the British capital.

IMMUNIZATION DECREED

LIMA, June 25—Immunization against diphtheria as well as smallpox will be compulsory for all Lima public school pupils this Fall, the board of education announced today.

MARRIED MEN AT BOTTOM OF INDUCTION LIST

Four Categories Are Set Up For Registrants By National Office

WAR WORK IS VITAL

All Qualified For Jobs Urged To Apply For Production Posts

WASHINGTON, June 25—Married men of military age today were being placed on the bottom of draft induction lists while the Selective Service system was directed to defer essential employees in war industries and men qualified for such employment.

At the same time, the U. S. Employment Service was ordered to make an occupational classification of every draft registrant and to "exert all reasonable efforts to persuade such registrants" qualified to work in war production to do so.

Following President Roosevelt's signing of a bill providing governmental financial aid for dependents of service men, national draft headquarters set up four categories for registrants. Acting under provisions of the measure providing for establishment of an order of priority for drafting married men, Selective Service headquarters sent telegrams to state directors setting up these four broad classes for induction.

"1. Registrants otherwise qualified for military service who have no bona fide financial dependents.

"2. Registrants otherwise qualified... who have financial dependents other than wives or children.

Dec. 8, 1941 Date Important

"3. Registrants otherwise qualified... who have wives with whom they are maintaining a bona fide family relationship in their homes and who were married prior to December 8, 1941, and at a time when induction was not imminent.

"4. Registrants otherwise qualified... who have wives and children, or children alone, with whom they maintain a bona fide family relationship in their homes who were married prior to December 8, 1941, and at a time when induction was not imminent."

It was emphasized that the new categories "do not provide for the permanent deferment of men with dependents, but rather provide the order in which registrants with dependents will be inducted."

The state directors were told that all the registrants in each category must be selected for induction before anyone in the subsequent category is inducted.

WAR PRODUCTION DELAYED BY GASOLINE SHORTAGE

NEW YORK, June 25—As Atlantic seaboard motorists faced another gasless week end, reports today reached Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia that the shortage of the gasoline was impeding war work in Queens, L. I. factories.

The Queens Chamber of Commerce informed the mayor that several plants engaged in war production had their output temporarily delayed because necessary supplies and employees were late in arriving due to transportation difficulties.

THESE GERMANS HAVE LOST BATTLE OF SEVASTOPOL

What price victory, for the German youth who lie here amid the lilacs and poppies at the gates of Sevastopol? With the Russians still in possession of the Crimean port the German loss in dead alone is reported to have exceeded 100,000. These Germans were among more than 1,000 who fell in the fighting for an unnamed village near Sevastopol.

GEN. MacARTHUR TO EUROPE?: CONGRESSMEN FAVOR PLAN

HOLDUP MEN ESCAPE-WITH VICTIM'S LUNCHEON CASE

CHICAGO, June 25 — Police were looking today for a couple of badly disappointed holdup men.

The bandits picked Sol Mayer, proprietor of a currency exchange, as a likely profitable prospect and waylaid him as he entered the exchange carrying a brief case.

One pointed a gun at him and the other grabbed his brief case. Then they beat it. Mayer had to send out for his lunch. That was what the brief case contained — nothing more.

ANOTHER TOWN WIPED OFF MAP BY NAZI FORCES

LONDON, June 25—The Budapest radio today broadcast an axis announcement disclosing that still another Bohemian village has been wiped out in reprisal for the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich, assistant chief of the Gestapo and so-called "protector" of Bohemia and Moravia.

Still acting with relentless ruthlessness despite announcement that the actual killers of Heydrich have themselves been shot to death. The Germans duplicated in the little town of Lesaty in the Chrudim district of Bohemia the now historic savagery previously visited on the coal-mining town of Lidice.

The brief radio broadcast said that Lesaty had been "wiped out and razed to the ground."

The entire population was charged with hiding parachutists who had played an important part in laying the groundwork for the assassination.

Their fate was not disclosed. But in the case of Lidice — and probably Lesaty as well — every male resident was executed, the women lodged in concentration camps and the children sequestered by the state and placed in special "instructional schools" where they presumably will be transmogrified into "good Nazis."

Lesaty does not show in standard atlases. It probably was about the same size as Lidice, which had a population estimated at between 600 and 1,000.

The second Wednesday evening, both classes starting at 7:30. Special training in gas defense is required of all defense volunteers, and training certificates can not be issued in any department until all required training has been received.

Chief Of Forces Now In Australia, Or Marshall, May Direct 'Front'

WASHINGTON, June 25—Members of Congress today suggested Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the Army, for the post of supreme United Nations commander when a second front is established in Europe.

Strong sentiment for American command of U. S. troops was also voiced by members of the Senate military affairs committee, who at the same time insisted that there must be a united command in an assault on German forces.

With opening of a western front already promised by President Roosevelt, rumors of discussions of choosing a supreme commander have circulated in Washington. The name of Lieut. Gen. McNaughton, a Canadian, has also been mentioned.

"The question of command is for the military to decide, but if I were in that branch I think I'd bring Gen. MacArthur back from Australia, because he has that situation in hand, and I would place him in charge of a second front in Europe if and when one is opened," said Sen. George (D) Ga.

Sens. Johnson (D) Colo. and Schwartz (D) Wyo., both endorsed Gen. Marshall for the post. They pointed to his fine record in France during the World War and to the record he has made in building America's new Army.

CHINESE AIRMEN SINK FOUR JAP SHIPS IN RIVER

CHUNGKING, June 25 — One large Japanese warship and three smaller war vessels were bombed and sunk in the Yangtze river by Chinese airmen, it was officially announced today.

The heavy aerial attacks on the Japanese vessels took place Tuesday, it was said.

The Japanese vessels were blasted as they lay in the Yangtze off Hankow. There were no reports that the city of Hankow itself had been bombed.

The plane now used by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika-korps automatically comes out of its dive as soon as its bombs are released, the writer said.

The new secret device employed spares the pilot the difficult task of straightening out his plane at the end of a breath-taking dive.

ADMIRERS DIDN'T READ SIGN, SO FAWN IS DEAD

CHICAGO, June 25—Passengers going to and from the Union station in Chicago today missed a shy little fawn which had been the center of attention in the Wisconsin exhibit at the station since its mother was killed by an automobile near Minocqua, Wis., a month ago.

It died from too much intended kindness. The fawn was bottle-fed by an attendant and a sign above its enclosure warned visitors not to feed the delicate little animal. But a veterinarian's examination after its death indicated it had died from inability to digest candies and nuts—even pieces of cellophane—given it in defiance of the warning.

NEW DIVER AIDING AXIS IN AFRICAN CAMPAIGN

LONDON, June 25—Axis successes in Libya were credited by the military correspondent of the London Evening Standard today to a revolutionary new type of dive-bomber.

The plane now used by Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika-korps automatically comes out of its dive as soon as its bombs are released, the writer said.

The new secret device employed spares the pilot the difficult task of straightening out his plane at the end of a breath-taking dive.

BRITISH ARMY RETIRES FROM SIDI BARANI

Russians Announce Ability To Hold Masses Of German Forces At Kharkov, Sevastopol; Challenge Aimed At Churchill Accepted

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Harassed and hard-pressed British Eighth army of Gen. Neil M. Ritchie retired deep into Egypt today before the superior axis armored divisions of Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel. Axis advance units were admitted to have pressed forward east of Sidi Barani during the night.

A Rome communique claimed that Sidi Barani, which is 50 miles inside the border, had been occupied, and there was little reason to doubt the claim, for military observers believed Gen. Ritchie would make his stand on a line from Mersa Matruh on the coast running southwest to Siwa oasis, which is 170 miles due south of Sidi Barani. Mersa Matruh is approximately 110 miles inside the border.

Because of the superiority of the enemy's armored equipment no attempt was made to hold Solum or the famed Halfaya Pass escarpment. A British communique announced withdrawal from the Solum-Sidi Omar line after a day of hard fighting in which heavy losses were inflicted on the advancing axis forces.

The Rome communique, which claimed that Sollum, Halfaya Pass and Fort Capuzzo had also fallen to the axis, said the "enemy is being pursued southeast of Sidi Barani" but there was no indication in British communiques that their withdrawal was anything but orderly. It was to be expected that light forces would maintain contact with the enemy while the main body withdrew to the new positions.

Wavell Drive Recalled

The Mersa Matruh-Siwa line is even deeper in Egypt than the positions from which Gen. Archibald P. Wavell launched his offensive in 1940 against the Italians under Marshal Graziani. This assault swept the enemy out of eastern Libya and halted only because the exigencies of the general war situation demanded that he weaken his forces for the ill-fated expedition to aid the Greeks and the Yugoslavs.

The further retreat in Africa threatened to intensify the opposition in Commons to the war leadership of Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

NEW YORK—American Liberator bombers and planes of the Royal Air Force have made another attack on the axis supply base of Benghazi, CBS reported from Cairo today. The raid was described as one of the heaviest yet.

This dispatch was sent from an enemy country, whose motive in releasing news is likely to be propaganda. Axis claims should be credited only when confirmed by American or Allied sources.

TOKYO—The Imperial Japanese high command asserted in a communique today that Japanese forces in the Aleutian Islands "presently are consolidating positions in neighboring islands" after occupying Kiska and Attu. The communique said Nipponese military forces occupied Kiska June 7 and Attu June 8. Kiska was renamed Narukami by the Japanese and the name of Attu was changed to Atsuta, the communique said.

LONDON — Reuters (British) news agency today reported a Rome broadcast of Stefani (Italian) news agency dispatch claiming that axis submarines have

First Story Of Aleutian Attack Told

Ship Carrying Wounded And Others Home Arrives In Seattle, Wash., Port

By E. E. BOUNTREE

SEATTLE, Wash., June 25 —

The first ship carrying wounded Alaskan soldiers, sailors and civilians and a group of women and children evacuees has arrived safely in this west coast port, bringing the story of the bombing attack on Dutch Harbor.

Quietly and without the wild emotion that might have been expected, this little group lined the rails of the war-smudged ship when it arrived back in "the states" to supply the first story of Japanese imperialistic brutality as it occurred on the North American continent.

They told of a Jap fighter, grinning as he swooped low to strafe streets and this same ship itself, of Jap bombers dropping missiles apparently ranging upward to 2,000 pounds.

Quiet mothers fondled their youngsters and didn't want to talk too much about it; wounded soldiers, some still nervously trembling from their ordeal, were helped down gangplanks and quickly taken to hospitals; three government girls, looking as chile as if ready for an Easter parade, told in a cautious way of their experiences, and wondered casually where their next jobs would be.

The approved story of the raid as gleaned from talks with dozens of persons aboard the evacuee ship, was this:

At 5:30 a. m. June 3 the Japs attacked. The little town of Unalakleet was awakened that Wednesday.

Question Of City's Finances Continues Vital Following Wednesday Discussion

DELEGATIONS AT SESSION First Of Next Year May See Many Services Eliminated, Officials Believe

$2,000 during the next six months of the year, thus bringing the estimated surplus down to $7,857. However, plans have been discussed for the transfer of a $1,000 bond, issued for improvement of Houston street outside the ten mill levy, thus giving the city an additional backing in the general fund.

Possibility of curtailing many city agencies by the first of year was disclosed in the following figures. The city will receive no more tax distributions until April, 1943, meaning that it must have a 1942 surplus to carry over until that time. For salaries during the three month period it will need $7,200; for fire hydrant rental, $3,500; street lights until January 1, $2,200; street lights for the first three months of the coming year, $1,100; back water bill, $5,200; and back light bill, $5,010; a total of $24,200 if the lights are kept on and all bills are paid. However, if the back bills aren't paid and the city lights do not remain on, it still means a cost of $10,700 until the council will receive any tax money or $2,000 more than the surplus that is expected at the first of the year.

Adkins warned the body that in case these obligations cannot be met by the balance, that there is no way possible of paying them and the only solution would be turning off men from the police force, now undermanned, and the fire department, three men short of state requirements at the present time.

Levy Discussed Again

With this viewpoint in mind councilmen turned to another way out of their predicament. Lynch again brought his proposal of a levy for operating expenses and asked delegates of the civic organizations if they would back such a proposal if council turned the lights on and found they needed an additional source of revenue by the first of the year. A. V. Osborn, president of the senior group, spoke on behalf of the club members and stated that the body would get behind the levy 100 percent if needed.

In discussing the chamber's view on the subject Osborn came out with some startling news that "a big firm" was considering this city as a possible site for a manufacturing plant and that the street light question was doing a lot to hold it away from any action. He stated that this firm, as all others, was looking into all records on the condition of the city and its schools, roads, taxation, protection and all other phases in considering the plan.

James Yost, president of the junior group, said that his group would also back a levy if there is no other way of turning on the lights, and he pointed out that lights were one of the necessities of the city and should be considered above all bills and other measures.

Solicitor Adkins came out with the fact that the possibility of a levy passing in this city at the present time, after like measures are being defeated daily in larger cities, was very slight. He referred to recent legislation turned down in Dayton and Columbus as examples of the public spirit against such assessments now, on top of increased federal taxation. He stated that the bill would probably be defeated and the city would be stuck with a large deficit with no possible way out.

Another plan was suggested by Mr. Yost who asked council to borrow money on the 1943 tax duplicate as it did in 1942, but this issue was also thrown out by Adkins when he stated that there could be no drawing on the funds until after April 1, 1943.

Mr. Lynch finally consented to approve a resolution turning the lights on if council would first approve legislation increasing rates at Berger hospital and make stipulations for paying off the old light bill in monthly installments in the new measure. The resolution to turn the lights on was withdrawn and the hospital ordinance was passed unanimously. The light legislation was then brought up again and after several statements by Mr. Mason, who still refused to see its merits the resolution passed.

Horn was unchanged in his attitude for re-lighting the streets and also suggested to the Chamber of Commerce that if it could bring some large industry that would employ several hundred men and women that the public would not object to increased tax levies and the city could get out of the "red."

How Long Not Certain

After the session various members of the city group expressed doubt as to how long the lights would remain on and noted fears of a serious financial condition at the end of the year.

Solicitor Adkins was instructed to draw up an appropriation bill for the next meeting that will include a clause for payment of $200 monthly on the back light bill.

Interesting facts brought out in the session included a declaration that the entire financial plight of the city was due to issuing too many bonds during the depression period, when the government went half way on costs of projects to employ city relief clients. Bonds issued then to meet costs of repaving Court street, street resurfacing and many other improvements in sewage disposal and other needs, are just now coming due and are throwing a burden on the resources of the city.

Bonds were issued then as emergency actions because members did not feel they had time to hold the proposals up for levy passage by the voters.

New rates at Berger hospital were designed to relieve the yearly deficit incurred by that municipal undertaking of several thousand dollars and will boost prices to be paid by patients. Basic cost of a room without bath will now be $4.50 per day with township relief cases to be admitted for $3.50. Other increases range up to $8 a day for a room with bath and nurse and medical service and supply costs of varied amounts. Plastic casts will cost $5; hip and chest x-rays, $10; other x-rays, $5; overnight service, $10; tonsil removal, $10; operating room, $10; minor surgery rooms, $5 to $10.

Of the total $12,000 is listed as real estate and the remainder as personal property.

what has happened there has not happened elsewhere, but because it is a striking example of what has happened elsewhere. Throughout the consumers durable goods industries the job of making facilities available for war production through curtailment or elimination of civilian production has been very largely finished," he said.

Data On 18, 19 Sign Up Issued

Two Periods Provided; All Questions Must Be Answered; Official Residence Vital

Fifth Selective Service registration, to be held Saturday between 12 noon and 6 p. m., and Tuesday between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m., will include all men who were born on or after January 1, 1922, and on or before June 30, 1924, and who have not heretofore registered. It affects every male registrant between the ages of 18 years to 20 years, six months, on or before June 30, 1942.

Registration will be made at the courthouse.

Registrants must answer all questions asked by the registrar for the notation on the registration card. It is important that the registrant describe his place of residence in detail and give full particulars as to the address at which he will be sure to receive mail or other communications.

To Avoid Confusion

Anyone unavoidably away from home Saturday or Tuesday may register at the most convenient registration place, but all registrants are urged to make every effort to register with their own local boards to avoid possible confusion in the future. Any person who must register away from home also is warned to carefully specify his home address so that his registration card may be forwarded promptly to his own local board.

Special registrars are provided to register men who cannot appear at a designated registration place because of illness or other incapacity, but it is incumbent on such men to advise a registrar in their local board area of their inability to appear.

A registrant who has more than one place of residence may choose which one he wants recorded as his place of residence, but no transient address may be recorded. A registrant who lives on an RFD route which goes through two counties or states is required to indicate the location of his residence, rather than his mailing address.

After the registrant has answered all questions and signed his name to the registration card, he will be given a registration certificate which must be in his personal possession at all times. Failure to possess this certificate, or to show it to authorized persons, constitutes a violation of Selective Service regulations and is considered prima facie evidence of failure to register.

STATE SALE TAX COLLECTION OFF IN COUNTY AREA

Continuing drop in sales tax receipts was disclosed Thursday by the county treasurer's office.

During the three weeks ending June 20 only $4,858.83 in stamps were sold to businesses throughout the county while in 1941 the same period yielded $5,059.80.

For the first six months of this year the decrease was shown in the following figures, 1941 $36,496.34 and 1942, $31,662.15.

Sales tax collections which for the week ended June 13 plummeted downward for the 16th straight week, now show a loss for the year to date exceeding $2,600,000, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported.

Collections for the week were $1,045,901, or $268,947 less than the $1,314,848 collected the corresponding week of 1941. For the year to date the total is $23,564,501, as against the $26,181,599 collected in the same period of 1941.

Once again automotive sales tax receipts accounted for a drop greater than the total decrease, indicating that other receipts were holding their own. Automotive revenue dropped from the $363,624 collected in the same week of last year to $84,752 the week ended June 13, a decrease of $279,472.

Farm WAR NEWS

An inflationary price rise is threatened—is even now on the way. The President of the United States has issued an appeal that this rise be kept in bounds—an appeal addressed to all of us. One point of attack on inflation he describes thus:

"We must discourage credit and installment buying, and encourage the paying off of debts, mortgages, and other obligations."

It has already been pointed out in these letters that 87 billion dollars of buying power in the hands of the consumers finds only 69 billion dollars worth of goods to buy. Now, if by means of credit and installments we add part of next year's buying power to this 87 billion, we have made the situation still worse by several billions more.

One would suppose that, in a time of increased incomes, people would use part of the increase to get out of debt. There are, in fact, several evidences that farmers have in the last 15 months done this to a considerable degree. Perhaps they remember the early 20's when the worst mortgage and short-time debt ever hanging on American farms followed directly on $2 wheat and $18 hogs. Many farmers then said, "Never again." Now, the President and his helpers are trying to help us avoid the "again."

The governmental agency responsible for this help is the Federal Reserve Board. Last September, this board issued regulation W, which did little more than bring the loose practices then prevailing into line with reasonably sound credit policy. The amended regulation issued last month goes further and is a definite attempt to reduce credit buying.

"No person engaged in making installment sales shall make or receive any payment on any other than the following conditions:

1. He must register and agree to abide by the regulations issued, and may lose his license and be fined if he fails so to do.

2. The down payment on any installment sale shall be one-third (except in case of sales under $6; sales of pianos and furniture—20 percent down; and repairs and services, no down payment required).

3. The number of monthly installments shall be not more than 12 except in case of automobiles, when it may be 15.

4. Installments shall be not less than $5 per month (or $1.25 per week in case of weekly payments).

5. A written statement of the installment contract shall be made with a copy to be given the buyer.

But, if I cannot meet the seller's terms, why not go to a money lender, borrow on his terms, and pay cash for the merchandise? I am headed off here too, for the lender must require from me a statement of the purposes for which I desire the loan and his lending for any purpose is governed by the same rules as govern the sale.

Farmers and home buyers will like to know that real estate loans are not covered by the regulation. Farmers with seasonal incomes may be allowed to pay in less regular payments, provided that at least half of the obligation be retired within half the loan period.

Credit on open or "charge it" accounts has been the practice in many lines—a practice greatly abused. The new regulations cover this field also. All purchases made on open account in May or earlier must be paid by July 10. Thereafter, any purchase on account must be paid off by the 10th of the second month following the purchase. Again, this is modified for those with seasonal incomes, such as farmers.

The regulations do not deal with what for the farming community is the most dangerous phase of inflation, the bidding up of land prices. In 1917-21, the price of land increased greatly, in many areas more than doubling, to be followed by a rapid decline which left many an owner with a mortgage larger than the sale value of his farm. Bankruptcy and foreclosures followed. Shall we get caught that way again?

Not only are we encouraged to pay off debts and mortgages; we are urged to save, to purchase war bonds, to keep up our insurance, to add to our savings deposits in banks—not only to keep these incomes of ours from adding fuel to the inflationary conflagration, but to put ourselves in position best to meet whatever situation may follow the war.

MAN WHO LIKED HITLER JAILED FOR F. B. I. PROBE

CHICAGO, June 25—Hans Oehler, former Chicago secretary of the German-American Bund, who so admired Adolf Hitler's choice of necktie pins he kept a whole boxful in his home, was held by police today at the request of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The 42-year-old alien, who said he was born in Austria of Czechoslovakian descent, was arrested yesterday on complaints of Navy officials and his draft board. The Navy reported he had attempted to obtain a job at the pier where employment of enemy aliens is forbidden.

His draft board complained that Oehler had ignored orders to return an occupational questionnaire for the third draft.

In his home, police found a large picture of Hitler, a uniform which Oehler reportedly acknowledged was that of a Bund officer, a short-wave receiving set and a box of Nazi pins.

Police compared the pins with one shown on Hitler's necktie in a photograph and said they were identical.

Oehler told FBI agents he left the Bund when the Nazis invaded his native country. He said he entered this country in 1923, applied for citizenship papers five years later but did not pursue the matter further.

BRITISH ARMY RETIRE FROM SIDI BARANI

Churchill. Opponents today lodged a motion stating that "the House while paying tribute to the heroism and endurance of the armed forces of the Crown in circumstances of exceptional difficulty has no confidence in the central direction of the war."

This referred to Churchill in his capacity as war minister, and Sir Stafford Cripps promptly accepted the challenge on behalf of the ministry. He promised an early debate on the motion which was signed by twenty members, most of whom have long been opponents of Churchill.

Signers included Sir Roger Keyes, who was removed as commander of the British Commando troops, former War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha, and Sir John Sydney Wardlaw-Milne, long a critic of Churchill's military strategic talents.

Germans Being Held

Russian communiques were more heartening than on Wednesday. The Germans were being held on the Ukraine and Sevastopol fronts, Moscow said. Some slight gains were made in the fighting south of Kharkov where a force of 400,000 Nazis spearheaded by 200 tanks was said to be suffering heavy losses.

The defenders of Sevastopol were stiffened by Soviet marines landed by the Black Sea fleet. One important position north of the besieged town was recaptured in fierce counter-attacks.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique today announced that three Japanese planes had been shot down over Celebes when they attempted to intercept an allied reconnaissance flight. The flight carried the United Nations planes more than 900 miles from Darwin, and was the longest undertaken since the spectacular raid on the Philippines.

MARRIED MEN AT BOTTOM OF INDUCTION LIST

Four Categories Are Set Up For Registrants By National Office

Temporary deferment of essential war production workers and occupational classification of draft registrants was ordered by War Manpower Commission Chairman Paul V. McNutt.

McNutt also directed other government agencies, including the War Production Board, the Agriculture department, and the Army and Navy, to cooperate in a program to swing America's manpower not needed for the armed service into war industries and the farms.

While he did not make a specific "work or fight" recommendation, McNutt told draft headquarters to afford "reasonable opportunity" for men, qualified for, but not engaged in "essential occupations" to take those jobs prior to induction.

BIG JAP BASES PROVIDE THREAT TO U. S. REGIONS

WASHINGTON, June 25—Japan's powerfully fortified bases on the Caroline Islands, 3,000 miles southwest of Honolulu, today are still considered by naval experts as a serious threat to Hawaii, Midway Island, New Caledonia and Australia.

This belief is shared by conservative naval analysts despite the fact that Nippon's fleet suffered severe losses and damage in the Coral Sea and Midway Island battles.

These sources are not convinced that the enemy cannot regroup its naval forces for another attempt to invade America's Pacific strongholds.

The fact that the U. S. Pacific fleet has made no attempt to penetrate this girdle of islands east of the Philippines and north of New Guinea indicates strongly that the Carolines are well protected against sea-borne counter-attacks. Just how strong the bases are in these and the adjoining Marianas and Marshall and Gilbert Islands is not known, but it is apparent now that Nippon's entire Pacific war strategy is built around them, and that they have played a vital part in enemy victories.

MAN KILLS WIFE, HURTS SON, SHOOTS HIMSELF

FREEDPORT, Pa., June 25—Using three different guns, Simon Baker today shot and killed his wife, wounded a son in the arm and then committed suicide in the attic of his home near Freedport, police reported.

The son, Melvin, 24, was taken to a hospital, where attaches said he did not appear to be seriously wounded.

Baker, police said, used a shotgun to end his wife's life, switched to a .22 calibre rifle to wound his son, and then used a high-powered rifle to terminate his own existence.

He did not harm his sleeping grandson, whose room he passed through to go to the attic, police reported.

More than 150,000 tons of badly needed steel scrap will be "mined" this year by one large steel company from slag dumps that have been accumulating at its various plants for as long as 50 years.

LONDON—The Paris radio today broadcast an Ankara dispatch reporting that nine Soviet planes had made a forced landing near the Erzerum airbase in Turkey, according to Reuter's (British) news agency. The German-controlled station said the crews were interned. Four United States bombing planes recently landed in Turkey because of lack of fuel following a heavy air attack on the Romanian oil fields.

TOO ACTIVE FOLDING BED LEADS TO $15,000 DEMAND

CINCINNATI, June 25—A folding bed that allegedly operated with much more speed than a folding bed is expected to display was responsible today for a suit for $15,000 damages filed by Mrs. Irene Papinau in common pleas court.

Mrs. Papinau sued trustees of the L. B. Harrison estate, owner of an apartment building in which she lived, charging that the bed unfolded so quickly that it knocked her down and pinned her to the floor. She said she suffered head lacerations and a broken wrist.

ALLIES TO HALT FUEHRER FIRST, THEN HIROHITO

WASHINGTON, June 25—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill today undertake the task of attempting to convince the Pacific allies, especially China, that the first major objective of the United Nations must be to stop Hitler in Europe and Africa this year.

A specially summoned meeting of the Pacific war council is being held at the White House to enable the President and the prime minister to explain to the representatives of Canada, China, Australia and the Netherlands the decisions which have been reached concerning the offensive strategy to be employed against the axis during the next six months.

Mr. Roosevelt also asked a bipartisan congressional delegation to the White House for a conference on the war situation with the chief executive and Prime Minister Churchill, presumably before the two leaders meet with the war council.

Representing one of the most impressive conferences held in Washington since America's entry into the war, the war council meeting is being attended by a President, two prime ministers, two foreign ministers and a diplomatic envoy.

CLEVELAND BUYS BOMBER

First Story Of Aleutian Attack Told

nesday by the roar of Jap planes and the piercing snort of American anti-aircraft fire intermingled with the thud-boom of heavy bombs.

By a conservative composite estimate, there were about 15 bombers and at least three Jap "zero" fighter planes in the wave. Two of the "zeros" immediately dove to within a few hundred feet of the ground and began strafing.

One report said American planes swept into the arena and engaged a formation of seven Jap planes. Another unconfirmed statement said the naval vessel "potted" one of the Mikado's carrier-launched planes simultaneously.

There was a maelstrom of noise from the vicinity of Dutch Harbor across from Unalaska.

Then, at about 6:20 a. m. there was a momentary lull. Seconds later, a group of the circling and swooping enemy aircraft swept back from the southwest. Three of the planes turned back in the face of withering ack-ack fire, but four more held a solid formation and dove straight into the blossoming A. A. smoke.

Near the ferry off Sheep Camp a huge bomb hit, sending a geyser of mud and water a hundred feet into the air. A terrific explosion was heard in the direction of Margaret Bay. Black smoke from fires created a funeral pall over the island.

Three planes streaked over Dutch Harbor, bombing as they went, and apparently using missiles ranging upward to 2,000 pounds.

One bomb hit beside a truck, killing the driver. Three men were buried by an avalanche.

The evacuees said most of the planes appeared to be some variety of dive-bombers. As one of the Alaskans put it:

"They let go with everything!" One of the attacking planes was believed brought down with anti-aircraft fire.

Then—so suddenly it hurt—the thunder of bombs, the chatter of machine gun fire and the loud coughs of ack-acks were silenced. Thus ended the first attack on Dutch Harbor—an enemy attack that produced military and civilian casualties on the American continent for the first time in this war.

On June 5 two alerts were sounded, but no Jap planes appeared.

CARE OF WHEAT CROP OUTLINED FOR FARMERS

Harvesters Warned That Moisture At 8 In 1942 Same As 7 In 1941

SEVERAL RULES NOTED No New Grain Should Be Dumped With Old In Storage Places

With wheat harvest in Pickaway county well under way, agricultural agencies have issued a warning to farmers in respect to proper care of threshed grain.

With commercial storage space only adequate for one half of Ohio's bumper crop, facilities for farm storage of the wheat and methods of handling it to prevent damage by weevils have become important questions.

Pickaway county's harvest program started into full swing this week but hot, dry weather is added before the bulk of it can be harvested, particularly that which is to be combined. More wheat than ever before will be combined this year and officials have noted to combine operators that with clock being turned ahead an hour due to war conditions, wheat cutting at 8 a. m. now has the same moisture content that it did last year at 7 a. m. Moisture is a critical factor in predisposing the grain to attack by weevils.

Many suggestions have been outlined for the proper protection of the crop but officials have warned that with improper storage space many farmers will be tempted to throw the grain any place and disregard its moisture content.

Rules Discussed Rules for farmers to follow in preparing the granary for the new crop of wheat are:

Keep the moisture content as low as possible. Do not dump the new grain on any of the 1941 grain left over in the bin.

Do not allow sacks or open bins of feed, such as bran, shorts or chicken feed, to be stored near the bin where the new crop has been placed.

Do not fail to thoroughly sweep out all fragments of old grain in the floor and wall cracks of the bin. It is a good idea to sweep hydrated lime into the cracks if the grain cannot be dislodged.

The following points should be kept in mind regarding moisture content of wheat:

Do not harvest with the combine grain that is too immature, or too high in moisture. Wait until grain is fully matured and at least down to 15.5 percent moisture content. Weevils will not live and multiply in wheat containing 12 percent moisture, but this is not always easy to attain without artificial drying. The higher the moisture content above this figure the greater the chances of losses from weevils.

Do not use a combine too early in the morning, while the dew is on, or while grain is damp. The changing of the clocks to the new wartime means that the combining of the grain should commence one hour later in the morning than in former years. This hour can be regained in the late afternoon.

Do not store sprouted shock grain or grain improperly separated from weed debris with sound, dry grain. This material is almost sure to "heat" in the bin and serve as centers of weevil infestation.

Watch and sample the stored grain regularly to determine its condition and possible weevil infestation.

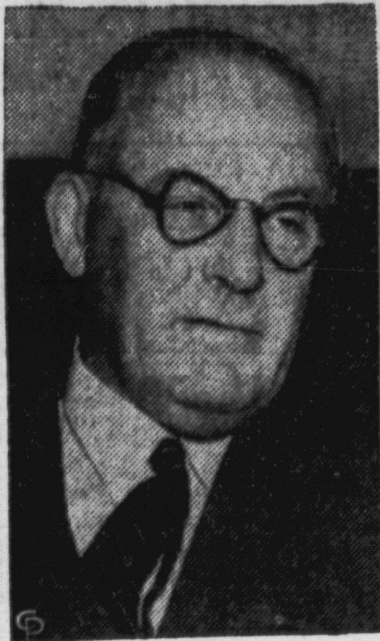

If weevils are present in the stored grain because of some unpreventable condition, fumigation with either carbon bisulfide, or one of the non-inflammable but more expensive trade fumigants, can be done. These are most effective if the bin is tight and the temperature is sufficiently high to volatilize the fumigant in the required time.

Prevention of weevil infestation is better than the cure, and observing the proper conditions of harvesting and storage will in most cases make fumigating unnecessary.

Fishery products valued at $171,719,000 were manufactured during 1940 in the United States and Alaska.

PROBE OF AUTO THEFT RESULTS IN ONE ARREST

Police and sheriff officials disclosed an interesting theft probe Wednesday afternoon that has been cleared up by members of the West Virginia state patrol.

Monday evening, someone stole license plates off the car of Roy Harrington, North Scioto street, when it was parked in front of his house.

The robbers were kind enough to put a set of stolen plates on the car and Harrington didn't notice the change until he went to work Tuesday. He questioned fellow employees, thinking they were trying to play a joke on him.

He then notified police who checked the licenses left and found them to be off a stolen car. The "swap" was made to cover up travel of the stolen car that was being hunted throughout the state after it had been taken from Ripley, Ohio.

An immediate alert for the Harrington license number brought about the arrest of a man by the West Virginia patrol on charges of stealing the Ohio car.

cative thrust. Then, with a devious chuckle, he quietly replied: "A very pretty witticism, Senator—very pretty, indeed. But I guess your wish was father to the thought. You happen to have your facts balled up. I said nothing of the kind. What I said was that I would not be a candidate for office this year."

NELSON'S LETTER

That unpublished letter Donald Nelson sent members of the Truman committee, in an effort to stop the report that blasted some of his top $1-a-year men, actually was the handiwork of two of Nelson's key aides.

One was John Lord O'Brien, WPB general counsel and former corporation lawyer, who several months ago whitewashed some $1-men assailed by the Truman committee. The other was Sidney Weinberg, Wall street banker and executive assistant to Nelson.

Before sending the letter to the committee, Nelson summoned WPB executives and informed them of his intention to confer personally with the committee and tell it what was what.

"I'm going up there tomorrow morning," Nelson said, "and put them in their places. They can't push me around. I won't stand for these attacks. They are not helping the war effort."

Nelson went "up there" all right, but before he got through he was singing a different tune. The committee quietly listened to him as he criticized the report and urged the elimination of its caustic strictures against his $1-a-year, masterminds.

Then when Nelson finished, Senator Truman opened up. Ordinarily the bespectacled Missourian is one of the mildest mannered men on Capitol Hill. But when he does get angry, he gets very angry.

NELSON BACKS DOWN

"Mr. Nelson," Truman snapped; "for your information this committee is under mandate from the United States Senate to investigate the administration of the war program. The members of this committee are just as much interested in winning the war as you and your assistants. In our work we give anyone who has any connection with a case a fair and full hearing. We have no axes to grind and there is no politics in this committee."

"On several occasions you have taken it upon yourself to infer questionable motives to this committee and have kicked me in the teeth. You have not only kicked me but you have kicked the United States Senate in the teeth. Now, it may be that I am not as big as you are, but the United States Senate is bigger than you are. And you don't want to forget that this committee is a body of the United States Senate and neither you nor anyone else is kicking it or pushing it around."

Truman's sizzling retort was hotly echoed by Senators Ralph Brewster of Maine, Joe Ball of Minnesota, (Republicans) and Jim Mead of New York (Democrat). They vigorously backed up Truman and made it plain that Nelson had no business trying to pressure the committee into whitewashing his $1-a-year assistants.

Whereupon Nelson pulled in his horns and began placating the committee. He said he had no thought of questioning its integity and assured members he held them in the highest esteem. Concluding, Nelson asked that he be allowed to withdraw his letter. "You can withdraw it if you want to," said Truman, "but I am going to keep my copy."

Later, when a colleague asked Truman if he thought Nelson would oust Philip Reed, No. 3 WPB chief, whom the committee singled out for especially severe condemnation, Truman replied, "I don't know, but it seems to me a very simple question—which Nelson thinks bigger, Reed or the United States Senate."

Note: Despite Nelson's staunch defense of Reed, WPB insiders are offering odds that he soon will return to his $100,000 job as chairman of General Electric.

THE WILL TO WIN

THAT heart-breaking set-back to the Allied cause in North Africa, from facts available, might be called a failure of human will. Although the Germans evidently had some advantages, gun-powder for instance, the difference in military strength was not great. Both armies were well-acquainted with the terrain, both had good equipment for warfare in that climate. The British troops no doubt were tired from the long strain. The Nazi troops after fighting aggressively and incessantly for weeks, must have been no less tired. The tactics were well known to both sides.

Was it not mainly a question of will-power? General Rommel is a magnetic and energetic leader, able to convey his own spirit to his troops. They had the Will to Win and they bent everything to that purpose. The British troops no doubt had also a will to win, but they seem not to have been led so gallantly. They seemed to be winning, then suddenly weakened and lost their supremacy. Incredibly they slowed down and surrendered—twenty-five thousand men with large equipment. Morally, as well as strategically, it was a tremendous defeat.

Perhaps what the Allied cause most needs, on every front, is the Will to Win, plus an expectation of winning. Courage is not enough. There must be an atmosphere of victory.

RAILS AND PLANES

THE railroads are doing so well now that owners of shares and bonds are marvellously pepped up. One line that hadn't paid a dividend since the Civil War is making money at last. All records for freight handling are broken. But even while stockholders rejoice at this good fortune, some of them are beginning to worry about a new threat. Freight cars, they hear, are sprouting wings, and where will that leave them and their investments?

A consulting engineer of the Grumann Aircraft Corporation prophesies that cargo planes will soon be taking over the rail and ship business. Pointing to the flying ships proposed by Glenn L. Martin, built to carry a load of 80 tons, he says that if the time-saving is figured in, it will only take 8,300 of such flying freight cars to replace the whole world's merchant marine. And 45,000 aircraft such as are now in operation could do the work of the nearly 2,000,000 freight cars in this country. It may be desired, too, he hints, to provide such transportation after the war, so as to provide work for 300,000 left-over air pilots.

Then Mr. Martin, who knows as much about this sort of thing as any man living, says his latest flying boat could carry 102 passengers, each with 80 pounds of luggage, plus a crew of 12 men, from New

BRITISH HELPED ICKES

WASHINGTON — American automobile owners don't know it, but indirectly they had the British to thank for the final decision to build a new pipeline from the South to the Middle-West.

Secretary Ickes had been urging construction of this pipeline for more than a year — always being rebuffed by the War Production Board.

Part of Ickes' argument was that it was foolish to waste American tankers by having them carry oil all the way to England from the Gulf of Mexico. If, on the other hand, tankers could load oil and gasoline at a Middle Atlantic port, they could have 1,000 miles of travel and reduce the exposure to submarine attack. Tankers are getting scarce these days, and the shorter the distance they have to steam, the more trips they can make.

Ickes put forth this argument emphatically at the last hearing before the War Production Board, but was rebutted by Lieut.-Gen. Brehon Somervell, head of the Army's Service of Supplies. Somervell pooh-poohed the idea that England was hard up for oil or gasoline, said he had just returned from there, and that Ickes' argument was pure poppycock.

Ickes made no immediate reply, but cabled the British Government. The British were boiling mad, and the reply he received clinched the matter. The War Production Board decided Somervell didn't know much about British oil supplies. The pipeline was ordered built.

WILLKIE SPIKES NYE

Wendell Willkie's luncheon with Republican senators wasn't as cordial as reporters were told it was.

There was a hostile flareup between Willkie and torrid isolationist Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, which had the other guests on the edge of their chairs for a few tense moments. The incidents occurred unexpectedly.

Nye arrived late and apparently in the friendliest of moods. He rushed over and shook hands warmly with Willkie. Willkie cordially returned the greeting. Neither he nor the other guests were prepared for Nye's next move.

The North Dakotan suddenly remarked, "Mr. Willkie, I was very much delighted with that statement you made the other day."

"What statement do you mean?" asked Willkie.

"You know the statement I mean," snapped Nye. "The one in which you declared that you wouldn't be a candidate for public office any more."

You could have heard a pin drop as the two men eyed one another. For a moment, Willkie made no reply to the provocation. (Continued on Page Five)

Medical Science Busy Solving War Problems

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I HAVE JUST been talking with an American physiologist who has made many brilliant discoveries in the field of aviation medicine. He tells me of some research work that is now going on which may be of decided benefit in conditioning aviators to high altitudes. Of course, a great many devices have already been tested out which have helped aviators to endure high altitudes for a long time; but the whole problem has not by any means been solved for 100 per cent of aviators.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

One of the factors in the situation seems to be that if the adrenal glands can be kept active, the endurance of aviators at high altitudes will be considerably increased. Animal experiments have shown that the adrenal glands can be stimulated and by using this stimulant animals can be kept in a rarefied atmosphere for a much longer time than has been believed possible.

Military Secrets
I am not at liberty to divulge the method used, which comes under the heading of a military secret, but the man to whom I spoke is a conservative research worker and seemed to feel that this was one of the great steps in aviation in this field.

Another field of medical character in which advances are being made is on the different types of goggles and spectacles used by the armed forces in various forms of combat. This also is a military secret but is sufficiently important that high officials regard it as one of the great improvements in Army equipment of the last few months.

Another war item has to do with the serious shortage of surgical gauze, bandages and other first-aid materials. Dr. George Baehr, Chief of the Office of Civilian Defense Medical Division, says "This unlimited purchasing of first-aid materials is based upon a wrong conception of air raid casualties. These casualties are usually of such severity that only trained emergency medical field units are competent to attend the injured at the site of an accident." England's experience revealed that bomb casualties were relatively few in proportion to the amount of property damage, but a large percentage of the victims died within a short time after the injury unless they received surgical attention from trained field units headed by physicians.

Not Necessary

Inasmuch as the program of the Office of Civilian Defense, as it affects hospitals, makes ample provision for emergency medical field units and ambulance facilities, the present drain on first aid materials is not only useless but genuinely hazardous. As an illustration of that is happening, Dr. Baehr stated that one of our cities purchased 50,000 first aid kits for its school teachers, and that every year's post, every apartment building and every floor of every municipal and other government building was being equipped with first aid supplies.

James M. Landis, Director of the Office of Civilian Defense, adds: "The rapidly increasing wastage of gauze bandages and other first aid materials is reaching alarming proportions which may threaten the supplies available for the military forces and civilian defense needs."

Air raid wardens will not be expected to care for the wounded in the event of an air raid, but because of the present misunderstanding, tens of thousands of them are stocking up on first aid materials and are urging everyone in their zones to do so. Most households are merely duplicating the materials already in their medical cabinets.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G. M. E.—Are active thyroid and active goiter the same thing and if not, what are the symptoms of active goiter?

Answer: This question was asked by a person whose doctor has told him that there is perhaps a slight enlargement of the thyroid, but that it would not give him any trouble. The symptoms that bother him are the feeling of a lump in the throat and pain in the chest. These symptoms it seems to me are mostly nervous in type and have no relation to the thyroid and he had better forget them.

Romance Thumbs a Ride

by ALLEN EPPES

SYNOPSIS

DIAN WESTON, an Ardendale girl, who has just been jilted, more or less accidentally meets BILL ROLLINS, New York artist, who has just been jilted also, by an Ardendale girl. CLAIRE LESTER, Claire has turned down Bill, saying that she has discovered she loves PAUL PETERS, a local boy, who is now an engineer.

YESTERDAY: Claire tells Paul that, after all, Bill may be the man she wants to marry.

CHAPTER TEN

"BILL SEEMS different in this setting," Claire said, a dreamy look in her lovely eyes. "So masculine—and so much the master of the situation. Anyway, Paul, I want more time to think—to study you in this lonely spot."

"What do you think we are—bugs under glass?" Claire laughed. "That's cute, Paul. Really it is."

"Maybe you ought to get Rollins and me on a desert island."

"Why, Paul?"

"So we could show you how clever we are at building shacks, and starting fires by rubbing two sticks together."

"Oh, Paul, can you really do that? How clever!"

Paul groaned. "Well, I'll be damned," he said.

"Paul, please," said Claire. "Then stop talking nonsense. The way you talk is enough to make a man swear."

"That's because you're utterly unreasonable," said Claire. "Me—unreasonable?" said Paul. "Ye gods and little fishes!"

"Besides," Claire went on, "I think comparing you and Bill—testing you—is a perfectly logical idea, and—"

"Maybe it is," said Paul, "from the feminine point of view. But forget it, Claire. We've got other things to think about."

"Nothing as important."

"Getting married—that's more important."

"Not at the moment—no."

"Listen, Claire," said Paul firmly, "we're going to be married the moment we can get the J. P.—and that's final."

Claire opened her mouth to say something scathing, but didn't say it. Dian called to them from the dining room.

"Come on out here, you two, and make yourselves useful," she said. "Well," said Claire, springing to her feet. "That's certainly a break—getting away from your dictatorial ideas."

"Oh, yes!" Paul said. "I suppose you'll start testing Bill in the kitchen."

"Maybe. Anyway, it's a good place to begin."

Claire hurried into the dining room, Paul right behind her.

Out there, Dian showed them where the tablecloths and silver were kept.

"You two can set the table," she said. "Bill and I will have the coffee and beans ready in a jiffy." She turned to Bill, who was in the doorway watching, an amused expression upon his face. "All right, Bill," she said, "come on and stir the beans before they scorch."

"Okay," said Bill.

"No, wait a minute," Claire said. "Let Paul stir the beans." She smiled at him. "After all you've told me, darling, about roughing it in the wilds, you ought to be a marvel with a frying pan."

"But, Claire," Paul protested, "Dian told us to get the table ready and—"

"Bill can help me with the table," said Claire. "You go stir the beans. I think you and Dian ought to get along marvelously—in a kitchen."

"Thanks," said Dian. "Oh, all right," said Paul. He and Dian went out together. Bill leaned against the sideboard. He studied Claire intently, a furrow between his brows.

"Anything wrong with me, Bill?" Claire asked.

"No," said Bill. "Oh, no. I was just thinking about the way you function—when a situation like this comes up."

"What do you mean?" Claire was puzzled.

"Oh, let's just forget it," said Bill.

"But I don't want to forget it. I want to know what you were really thinking."

"I was thinking how lovely your hair looks in the softness of the lamplight," Bill lied.

Claire smiled. "Bill, how sweet of you."

Bill walked over to the table. "Shall we get on with the business at hand?" he said.

"Yes," said Claire, "let's."

"Nice and cozy, isn't it?" said Bill, after several seconds of rather awkward silence.

"Yes," said Claire, "it is. Like some of the times we had in your studio."

As Claire and Bill placed a cloth upon the table, and arranged silver and china for four, Claire found herself remembering New York and the gay times she and Bill had enjoyed up there together.

That evening in the rainbow room, 65 floors above the sidewalks of Radio City! How beautifully Bill had danced! What a marvelous looking couple they had made! Bill could wear clothes like no other man she had ever known, always managing to look as though he had just stepped straight from the pages of Esquire. In tails and white tie he looked simply perfect—the perfect answer to any woman's prayers. And she in a Nile green chiffon that brought out the red of her hair and the green of her eyes. The two of them dancing as one—saying little, just adorably silent, understanding, very close, content.

And people looking at them, making complimentary remarks which she couldn't hear but which she knew were complimentary because of the expressions upon their faces.

Then Bill speaking at last—his voice low, husky with emotion. "So you're really going to marry a Yankee?"

"Yes, the most perfect Yankee ever."

"Thank you, ma'am. You-all shore do say nice things, you-all does."

"Silly!"

"Beautiful!"

"Idiot! Handsome, adorable idiot."

"Think little southern gal will like living on top of a New York skyscraper?"

"She'd adore it, Bill, if you're on top of the New York skyscraper with her."

"Just try to push him off!"

"Bill—did I really make a good model?"

"You shore did, honey chile. And because you were so good, you're going to be promoted from model to model wife."

Conversations like that—low-voiced, thrilling. . . . Bill Rollins in tails. . . . Claire Lester in Nile green chiffon.

And the first nights they had attended, the exciting opening of new plays and revues. Super afterward in packed and thrilling night clubs along Fifty-second street. How delightful it had all been! Posing. . . . Love coming slowly but surely. . . . And a proposal.

Little Claire Lester of Ardendale being proposed to by a successful and charming artist! If I'm dreaming, don't wake me up! It had been comforting, too, that proposal, after the quarrel with Paul; comforting to have Bill say things to her that quickened her heartbeats; comforting to feel his arms about her. His kisses swept away all her unhappy memories of the scenes with Paul. He had been understanding, too—sweet and gentle.

For Thursday, June 25

POWERFUL influences continue to hold sway in the celestial map, with increasing opportunities for advancing the position and prestige in a subtle or unusual manner, and with influential forces at work to bring this about by means of behind-the-scenes measures or understandings. There should be concentrated activity toward attaining honors, distinction or favors, but with an eye to much discretion, strategy and clever technique rather than any untoward effort to force issues, with these in power.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured a year of continued advance upon high position and personal prestige, possibly in some out of the ordinary manner, perhaps on the sea or in the air or in advantageous ways of enlisting the rewards and honors of those in authority. This had best be maneuvered by subtle strategies, secret agreements or unique abilities rather than attempts to force issues.

A child born on this day should be gifted with exceptional creative abilities which may win it renown or tokens of approbation from those in power. Its recognition of its subtle faculties may assist in its notable career and happiness.

MONROE SCHEDULE
Vaughn Monroe and his orchestra, who start a new series over CBS Monday, June 29, at 7:30 p. m., will open the series in New York but subsequent broadcasts will come from various parts of the country because Monroe is booked right through the Summer for vaudeville engagements. July 11 he goes to Hamid's Pier in Atlantic City, July 23 he'll be at Loew's Capitol in Washington, July 31 he'll be at the Eastwood Gardens in Detroit, August 7, he'll go to the Palace Theatre in Cleveland and August 14 he's due at Shea's Theatre in Buffalo. On many of these stops in addition to his commercial broadcasts he'll also be heard on numerous sustaining periods via NBC, CBS and MBS.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAMS
July has been selected by NBC's three international stations, WRCA, WNEB and WBOS, for special programs telling the dramatic story of the fight for independence and liberty in this country and South American countries. Programs will star Dr. Frank Black and the NBC Symphony Orchestra, a different diplomat from Washington on each airing and the playing of each country's national anthem. Programs will be heard on July 4, 5, 20 and 28.

RADIO BRIEFS
Just in a spirit of good, mean fun, Raymond Edward Johnson, the "host" of "Inner Sanctum Mysteries," has had the front door of his Westchester home treated so that it duplicates the creaking of that "Inner Sanctum" door. That, combined with a macabre greeting and an eerie chuckle or two, is enough to upset almost any caller!

Assignment to Berlin. CBS war correspondent Harry W. Flannery's graphic story of life in wartime Germany and broadcasting from the Nazi capital, is "must" reading in the Nation's radio newsrooms. Book will be on the stands June 29, but advance copies went out this week.

Penny Singleton did this week's "Blondie" broadcast with a nurse standing by in case she collapsed during the show. The blonde actress was recovering from a siege of intestinal flu.

Without Painful Backache
When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LOUIS AT RILEY; WANTS 'SAMMY' TO PERMIT BOUT

FORT RILEY, Kans., June 25—Corporal Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champion, was in for a busy day today, with his specific assignment at Fort Riley to be decided and his new duties to be explained.

He arrived at Fort Riley late yesterday to complete basic training at the cavalry replacement training center. It was thought he would be assigned to the mechanized cavalry because of his weight which, while just about right for the ring, is over the limit for the horse cavalry.

The champion avoided a crowd of 200 soldier fans at the Fort Riley station by staying aboard the train and riding to Junction City four miles distant. He then took a taxicab to report at the training center.

Pvt. Benjamin Morrison, a soldier-photographer who boarded the train at Fort Riley to get pictures of the newcomers was caught aboard and forced to pay the 10-cent fare to Junction City which he regarded as not a bad investment, for he got the pictures.

Joe said if "Uncle Sammy" was willing he would like to fight Billy Conn some time soon. It wasn't that he needed the money to pay the September installment of his $117,000 income tax, he said. He thought he would have that, all right.

"It's just that I could do more if I could get that fight with Conn," he explained. "Uncle Sammy needs to sell War Bonds. I could buy a lot of 'em if they'd let me fight."

BUCKEYES LOSE HORACE GILLUM BY LOW GRADES

COLUMBUS, June 25 — Horace Gillum, highly publicized Negro end from Massillon, will not wear the flaming scarlet togery of Ohio State university next Fall. It was disclosed today following issuance of grades for the Spring quarter.

Gillum along with six other potential Buckeye satellites were tackled and thrown for one of the biggest losses ever to be suffered by an Ohio State eleven because of scholastic difficulties.

Clipped by the rigid penalties of the university's grading system along with Gillum, who figured heavily in Coach Paul E. Brown's picture for the heavy 10 game schedule, were John Rosen of Isabella, Pa.; Eli Broglio, Massillon; Dick Heller, Lakewood; Spero Deliberia, Ashtabula; Dick Burdett, Columbus, and Nick Toth of Detroit.

Loss of the seven players left Brown with a squad of 35 for the ensuing campaign, one of the smallest in the history of the school—even smaller than last year's aggregation that surmounted seemingly insurmountable odds of a new coaching regime and took six games and tied another in the eight game schedule.

The announcement spread a coat of gloom over the campus, even heavier perhaps than the already disheartening outlook for the war-riddled attendance figures.

STEWART WINS TWO

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 25—Medalist and Defending Champion Earl Stewart and 15 other survivors faced a double round of match play today as they began the third round of the 45th National Intercollegiate golf tournament on the Chain o' Lakes course. Stewart, from Louisiana State, had to eliminate John Holmstrom, captain of the Illinois team, in the morning play in order to reach this afternoon's quarter finals.

The Louisiana redhead dispatched John Ward of Syracuse, N. Y., 1 up on the 18th green yesterday morning, then W. E. Beckford of Yale, 3 and 2, in the afternoon.

Seeking to halt the draft-Willkie movement, the executive committee of the New York county Republican committee condemned the action of the "vote for freedom" campaign by inference. In an adopted resolution, the committee advised "pressure" groups outside the G. O. P. state organization against dictating their nominee for the Fall election.

If you're a rookie in the army and are asked to locate six feet of skirmish line—it's an old joke.

Snapper Ankrom Moves Up In Organized Ball

Ernest (Snapper) Ankrom, Pickaway county's contribution to organized baseball, has been selected by the Jackson, Tenn. Generals to the Richmond, Va., Blues of the Piedmont league.

Young Ankrom, an infielder, is a former Muhlenberg township athlete and former member of the C.A.C. basketball team. He received his start in baseball with Mike Helfrich's New Holland Rathskeller outfit.

Jackson is in the Kitty league, while the Piedmont loop is regarded as a step higher.

RED BIRDS DROP 7-3 TILT; KASEYS ADD TO MARGIN

COLUMBUS, June 25—"You can't win 'em all," the Columbus Red Birds decided today after dropping a 7-3 decision to Kansas City, American association leaders.

The loss snapped Columbus' seven-game winning streak. The Blues' win, coupled with the double loss dealt the second place Milwaukee Brewers by Toledo, left Kansas City a full two and a half games out in front.

Only other game in the association yesterday saw Indianapolis thumping Minneapolis, 6-1.

Meanwhile, George M. Trautman, association prexy, today continued to study the Minneapolis protest of the 4-3 ten inning victory scored Monday night by Indianapolis. He has promised an early decision.

The Millers based their protest on a ninth-inning play, with Minneapolis leading 3 to 1. Moore and Skelley of the Indians were on third and second, respectively, when Skelley scored the former, and Skelley also crossed the plate. Minneapolis claims, however, that Skelley missed the plate on his slide, but that Moore aided him to his feet and shoved him back to touch the plate. The Millers allege this constituted interference, that Skelley should have been declared out, and that Minneapolis should have been the winner, 3-2.

Association games scheduled today, all night, are: Kansas City at Columbus, two games; St. Paul at Louisville, two games; Milwaukee at Toledo and Minneapolis at Indianapolis.

EVANGELICAL TEAM WINS FROM CATHOLIC OUTFIT

Seven big runs scored in the second inning by the Evangelical softball team were sufficient to win a 7-6 ball game from the Catholic outfit. The game was played Wednesday evening at Ted Lewis recreation center.

The losers picked up one run in each of the first three innings and added three in the fifth, but couldn't tie up the contest.

Lineups included: Evangelical: Lape 2b, Clark ss, G. Carothers p, R. Carothers 1b, C. Kerns 3b, R. Rihl sf, Sanders c, R. Rihl lf, B. Carter cf, J. Carter rf.

Catholic: Moore 2b, Smith ss, Shadley 1b, Dillman 3b, Siegwald c, Roundhouse lf, Shea cf, Eitel rf, Goeller sf, Kirwin p.

HOME RUN LEADERS

American: Williams, Red Sox 17; York, Tigers 14; Doerr, Red Sox 11.

National: Mize, Giants 11; Camilli, Dodgers 10; F. McCormick, Reds 10.

ST. LOUIS DROPS TWO; CINCINNATI NEARING SECOND

Dodger Lead Goes To Nine; Haas, F. McCormick Clout For Ohio Outfit

By International News Service

Brooklyn was nine full games ahead today in its runaway race for the National League pennant. The Dodgers, idle yesterday, picked up a game on the Cardinals when Boston defeated St. Louis twice, 6 to 2 and 3 to 1. Jim Toth, who notched his first victory in more than a month, pitched the Braves to their opening triumph. Rookie "Wild" Bill Donovan scored his first major League win in the nightcap, yielding only one hit. Frank Demaree and Chet Ross hit homers for the Braves in the first tilt.

Cincinnati defeated the New York Giants, 4 to 3, in a ten-inning twilight contest. The victory placed the Reds within a game and a half of the second place Cardinals. Frank McCormick's tenth home run of the year in the eighth tied the score, and Bert Haas won the game with a home run in the tenth. Babe Barna was responsible for all three runs off Bucky Walters, hitting a two-run homer in the fourth and driving home another marker with a single in the fifth. Walters notched his eighth victory against five defeats.

Fox, Novikoff Hit

The Chicago Cubs made it two straight over Philadelphia, defeating the Phils in a night contest, 3 to 1, with Claude Passeau chalking up his 11th victory. Successive doubles by Jimmy Fox and Lou Novikoff, following Rip Russell's single in the third, gave the Cubs two markers. Bill Nicholson added the third with a four-base knock in the ninth.

Pittsburgh, like Brooklyn, was idle.

In the American league, New York Yankees made it two in a row over St. Louis, beating the Browns, 6 to 5. Johnny Murphy, the Yankees' ace relief pitcher, saved the verdict for Marvin Breuer, entering the game as Browns threatened in the seventh frame.

Behind steady flinging by Al Milnar the Cleveland Indians won a 9 to 0 decision over Philadelphia. Milnar allowed only five hits in scoring his fourth victory and also contributed a home run to the 15-hit Tribe attack.

Tom Turner belted a home run with the bases jammed in the eighth stanza to give the Chicago White Sox a 6 to 0 win over the Washington Senators. Up until Turner's long punch, the contest was a pitcher's battle between young Early Wynn, who previously had allowed two runs, and Johnny Humphries. The latter was credited with his third victory of the season and his first shutout.

Williams Again

Ted Williams smacked a home run in the seventh frame to give Boston a 1 to 0 victory over Detroit in the first twilight game in the history of Briggs stadium. The Tigers' home park. Charley Wagner let the Tigers down with only three safeties. Wagner retired the Tigers in order after the first inning. Virgil Trucks, who gave up eight hits, was Williams' victim.
